Tudor Day

By Kai Q

To commemorate the Year 3's ongoing topic based on the Tudor times, Trinity held a Tudor Day just for them! There were flowing scarlet dresses and gleaming golden crowns (even the teachers joined in too!) but the fun-filled day also had medieval activities to help them learn all about the intriguing Tudors including dancing, performing Shakespeare and making knot bread.

Easter Worship

By Olivia K

The Year 5's spectacular Easter Worship took place on the last day of the Spring term (the first part) where they told of Jesus arriving with his disciples, of Judas' horrifying betrayal just to earn a few silver coins, of the depressing last supper and of Jesus' capture and death (in a very interesting way indeed!) They worked extremely hard on this sensational play and I know it's safe to say that everyone was transfixed at their astonishing work! Well done Year 5! Their second part was just as good – I loved it personally and here are a few quotes that confirm that it was an outstanding piece of work:

“It was excellent!” Emily M

“Creative” Abbie P

“It was good!” Olivia P

“It was interesting!” Mya RJ

“I liked that they used loud voices!” Amber C

“I thought it was absolutely incredible and they all did a wonderful job!” Mrs. Kenyon

PRAYER

By Abbie P

Dear Lord,

Please give us hope that soon our lovely ocean is clear from all the harmful plastic, and your wonderful creation will not be polluted anymore. Please help us to keep our harmless creatures safe from all the terrible plastic destroying their homes. We are slowly getting there but with our determination and your passion for this wonderful creation we can save our planet.

Amen.

Who will be the first to get their Gold certificate this year?

Eliza's Big Adventure Part 4

After about half an hour of searching for a new portal, they eventually gave up on it. Eliza and Kimmy were so upset, because Eliza had lost Rusty and Kimmy had lost Tim (their dogs). "What are we going to do now?" cried Eliza. Eleanor simply shook her head, her beautiful pink mane following her, and told her that either they should try and find them a house to rent, or just try and live in the cottage with her and live in the Oak tree world. Eliza wanted neither, but said that she and Kimmy should live in Eleanor's cottage because they had kind of got used to it already, since they had slept in it for the past one to two days.

"Our mums will be worrying about us though," said Kimmy truthfully "And our dogs!" Kimmy had to have a lie down because when she gets REALLY upset or scared, she sometimes faints. Then Eliza had a good idea. She told Eleanor that they might not have looked everywhere, and there was a place she knew that they hadn't been to. "The Vet Training centre, of course! They might be there because Vets look after animals, right?" Eleanor nodded. "So Rusty and Tim might be there!" Once Kimmy had woken up, they set off on Eleanor's back and went to the Vet Training Centre. A receptionist asked them who they wanted to see, and when they told her, another woman led them down a long corridor, and into a room. It turns out Eliza was right, because Rusty (Eliza's) and Tim (Kimmy's) were in front of them!
